Paragraph

That strange language of federal government called gobbledygook is best illustrated by the current bill to help the states and cities with what the gobbledygookers call revenue sharing—when the true meaning is debt sharing.

Two Star staffers went fishing Tuesday, and this is their report.

The daylight temperature running in the high 90s Gene Allen and your editor decided the best bet was a spot of night fishing, in which Gene is a man of experience but I am not.

In preparation for Tuesday's outing I bought a floating sealed-beam light at Jim's One-Stop store, Highway 4 North, and managed for a heavy-duty battery that would serve the light and also act as a backup for the battery on the big engine of my boat.

Gene and I headed out of Hope and were fishing one mile up Saline River on Millwood Reservoir by 8 p.m. Daylight remained until almost 9:30, it being the next to the longest day of the year (the longest was Wednesday, June 21).

Night came on, with a three-quarter moon. The wind that had ruffled the water in daylight died away, and the only worry spot on the horizon was a thunderstorm which blackened the sky far to the west, ripped to shreds by lightning but so distant we couldn't hear the thunder. The storm moved around to the north, however, and missed us.

It had been a year since I was up the Saline, and all the green trees had died, burying the old landmarks in an army of skeletons. But Gene knew the way, both going in and coming out.

In addition to the animal comfort of a cool night on the water we were glad to find the Saline area free of mosquitoes. Gnats, of course, but no mosquitoes.

Our fishing light, hung two feet above the water from a pry-pole 10 feet out, drew gnats by the thousands. Minnows swarmed after the gnats, and the bigger fish sought the minnows.

We threw our minnow baits to the edge of the shadow area surrounding the light, in approved fashion. It wasn't my night, but Gene Allen latched onto four—three crappie and a bass. The bass, a 3½-pounder, tore up the still water before Gene finally landed him.

We fished past midnight and got back in Hope at 2 a.m.—a thoroughly enjoyable excursion.

One final note: In night fishing always carry with you a backup light. We had two backups—just in case.

Anemia-diabetes fight is started

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Health Department and five East Arkansas Community Action Agencies began work Wednesday to fight anemia and diabetes among low-income rural residents.

Larry Alderstein, director of rural health services of the Arkansas Regional Medical Program, said a greater level of preventive care will be brought to East Arkansas.

The program Wednesday involved showing 35 CAA outreach workers how to conduct simple tests to determine diabetes and iron deficiency.

The CAA's will carry out the program in Randolph, Lawrence, Clay, Poinsett, Craighead, Mississippi, Crittenden, Phillips and Monroe counties.

North Vietnamese attack is halted

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese armor and infantrymen broke through South Vietnam's northernmost defense line above Hue at dawn Thursday, but field reports said the main thrust of the attack was stopped with help from U.S. jets.

Military sources said 16 North Vietnamese armored vehicles were knocked out, including at least nine tanks, on both sides of the My Chanh River which forms the northern defense line 20 to 25 miles north of Hue.

Initial reports from the Saigon command said one South Vietnamese soldier was killed and eight were wounded.

Military sources in the field said at least six tanks crossed the river, and fighting was reported northwest and southwest of a Roman Catholic church that is now a South Vietnamese command post at My Chanh. The area was heavily shelled during the night.

U.S. jets knocked out three North Vietnamese 130mm guns, which have a range of 17 miles, west of My Chanh with laser-guided bombs, military sources said. But North Vietnamese shells hit an ammunition dump at Camp Evans, a big South Vietnamese base camp six miles southeast of My Chanh, and the ammunition was still exploding at midmorning.

Another 14 tanks were claimed Tuesday and Wednesday by South Vietnamese marines who are making a sweep to the east of the paratroopers in the coastal region of Quang Tri province known as the Street Without Joy.

Two U.S. planes were shot down on the western side of Quang Tri province, on the Laotian border, but both pilots were rescued.

The U.S. Command said U.S. jets flew more than 270 strikes against North Vietnam Wednesday, and Air Force F4 Phantoms shot down a MIG21 interceptor in a dogfight 50 miles northwest of Hanoi.

The Command said American bombers gave a heavy pounding to the Haiphong region, wrecking supply depots, surface-to-air missile assembly areas, SAM launching sites, anti-aircraft artillery batteries and bridges.

The Viet Cong announced today that it had released hundreds of South Vietnamese troops captured during the fall of Quang Tri and "helped them return to their homes."

On the southern front, the U.S. Command reported that six Americans have been killed since Monday in the stalled drive to reopen Highway 13 to An Loc, the provincial capital 60 miles north of Saigon that the North Vietnamese tried in vain to capture.

The dead Americans included two advisers to the South Vietnamese force that has been unable to break through to An Loc and four helicopter crewmen. Two U.S. helicopter gunships were shot down on Tuesday and one on Wednesday.

BEAR FOR SALE

BEEBE, Ark. (AP) — Hershel Coffman of near Beebe has a 205-pound brown bear for sale.

The bear, named Honey, was bought little over a year ago as a cub at the Little Rock Zoo, which had a surplus of bears at the time. The zoo still has a surplus.

"My wife saw it and decided she wanted it," Coffman said.

The 17-month-old bear, which Coffman described as "perfectly tame," eats about 45 pounds of dry dog food a week.

The Coffmans plan to move to Little Rock and are selling the bear, Coffman said, because keeping a bear isn't feasible in the capital city.

dropped the 'cautious' part. I'm absolutely confident we'll get it on the first ballot."

Stearns, who directs the delegate search in states without primary elections, has achieved a reputation for accurate, if not slightly conservative, predictions of the numbers and sources of the senator's delegates.

His projections for McGovern's final sprint to the nomination came one day after the candidate's strong showing in the New York primary. By the time the state's at-large delegates are picked this weekend, Stearns says, McGovern will have gained 253 first-ballot votes in New York.

Frank Manckiewicz, one of McGovern's top strategists, said Wednesday the McGovern nomination will be wrapped up so early that his chief competitors probably will drop out before the balloting begins in Miami Beach.

Deadline for win by McGovern set

By GREGG HERRINGTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — George McGovern, who just months ago was considered only an interesting sideshow in the 1972 presidential sweepstakes, will sew up the Democratic nomination within nine days, says his chief delegate-counter.

By the end of this week McGovern will have 1,407 delegates either legally or verbally committed to vote for him, according to Rick Stearns, the 27-year-old one-time theology student who keeps McGovern's charts on where the votes are.

And by July 1 another 102 delegates will have swung over to McGovern to provide him on the first ballot with the 1,509 delegate votes needed for the nomination, Stearns said Wednesday.

"I've always described myself as cautiously optimistic," Stearns added. "Now I've $100 penny

Comer Boyett of Hope recently retired from the local post office after serving about 39 years as an employee of the federal government. A local custom is for retiring employees to receive $100 from the post workers, but Boyett's fellow workers only gave him one cent. However, the penny is a Lincoln 1909 S VDB, valued at about $100. Boyett is a coin collector, and the "gift" completed his collection of Lincoln pennies.

Shooting of 6 baffles police

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — Police say they are baffled as they search for a motive for the shooting rampage by a gunman who entered an office building armed with two sawed-off rifles and methodically pumped bullets into any man he encountered. Six men died, six were wounded.

Officials identified the gunman as Edwin C. Grace, 33, a uniformed off-duty guard for a security agency. He was hospitalized with what police said were self-inflicted gunshot wounds in the neck and head. Doctors said he had a good chance of pulling through.

A witness said the gunman kept reloading the .22-caliber rifles and that nearly 100 bullets were fired as he ordered women to get out of his way.

A worker in an employment office in the building, Heritage House, James Ashen, 24, of Blackwood, said:

"This guy walked in. He was a complete stranger. I never saw him before and he shot my boss in the head and he hit the floor. He shot the guy sitting in front of me a couple of times in the back.

"The other three of us grabbed chairs and crowded into the corner of a small room, begging him not to shoot us, but he kept firing and he kept saying, 'Don't move, don't move.' He was a maniac."

Three of the wounded men were in critical condition and a seventh man was injured seriously when he leaped through a window attempting to avoid the gunman. Victims interviewed by police said they did not know Grace and had not seen him previously.

The gunfire erupted about 3 p.m., and police said the gunman terrorized the building for several minutes. About 40 policemen surrounded it after being alerted by a wounded man who escaped.

Public Safety Director Wallace Lapeters said the officers fired tear gas canisters into the building and that several policemen entered, but that no shots were exchanged with the gunman.

After the shooting stopped the gunman was carried from the building along with other wounded persons, and it was not until hospital workers found bullets in his pocket that police realized who he was.

Several women who encountered the gunman told police he ordered them to get out of the way. Six women scrambled to safety from the GMA Co. office, and another seven who confronted the gunman as they cowered in a basement also were unharmed.

Carried from the building on a stretcher was Grace, a Pinkerton guard from the Trenton, N.J., office of the detective agency.

Grace underwent surgery at Cherry Hill Hospital. Because of his condition, police were unable to interrogate him.

'Quiet' describes the alleged killer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"He was very quiet and paid his rent on time and I had no reason to consider him anything but a nice guy," said a woman employee at Edwin C. Grace's lodgings in Turnersville, N.J.

But she added that she really knew nothing about the 33-year-old occupant of Apartment 2 at the Saxon Motel who is accused of a terrifying shooting spree Wednesday in Cherry Hill, N.J.

The tall and husky Pinkerton agent "minded his business," she said.

While Grace lay in critical condition in a hospital Wednesday night, reporters roamed the Marine Park section of Brooklyn, N.Y., where his parents live. They could learn little about the man accused of shooting to death six persons and wounding six others. Police said he turned a gun on himself after the shooting rampage in a Cherry Hill office building.

Persons at the two-story red brick home at 1510 East 29th St. ordered the reporters away.

Neighbors along the tree-lined street who said they knew Grace described him as quiet and withdrawn. "He was a very nice boy," one woman said.

Another neighbor said of the family, "They're very quiet people, they never give you any trouble."

The vice president of the Pinkerton Agency in New York City, William Linn, said Grace "was well educated and a college man and appeared to be very intelligent. We're just as shocked and surprised at this as anyone."

Grace was employed at Pinkerton's Trenton, N.J., office. He was assigned as a guard at various plants and warehouses, Linn said, and normally worked

Flags to go on sale Saturday

Saturday, between 9 and 10, Boys Staters and Girls Staters will man the telephones of Radio Station KXAR to take orders for 100 American flags to be sold for $4 each.

Anyone wishing to have their flag delivered by a '72 Boys Stater may call 777-5525, or to have a Girls Stater deliver your flag, call 777-3601 Saturday.

Flags may also be purchased by calling Red River Feed and Seed, 777-5755, anytime Saturday, and the flags will also be delivered by a Boys Stater or a Girls Stater.

The large flags come with mounting brackets, and an all-metal pole, and are available through the courtesy of the local American Legion Post, and the American Legion Auxiliary.

It was also announced that today through the 4th of July the American Legion Leslie Huddleston Post 12, its auxiliary and junior members, in co-operation with radio station KXAR, are offering flags for sale.

Haskell Jones of KXAR, Prudence Jones, American Legion Auxiliary Unit 12 President, and Dee Coffee, Legion Post 12 commander, join the delegates to Boys State and Girls State in urging every business firm and each individual citizen to purchase and fly a flag July 4.

AREA CHAPTER IS WINNER

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — About 12,000 Jaycees chose 10 vice presidents, including one from Texas, and their national convention Wednesday and turned today to lengthy balloting on a new president.

The vice presidents include Rick Clayton Jr. of Abilene, Tex., and Don Courts of Baton Rouge, La.

Last year in Portland, Ore., it took 22 ballots and an entire night to elect current President Ronald Au of Hawaii.

In competition for most outstanding Jaycee chapter, the winners in six population divisions were Newburgh, Ind.; Tell City, Ind.; Bouchel-Fern Creek, Ky.; Texarkana (serving both Texas and Arkansas on the border); Springfield, Mo., and Houston, Tex.

Ceasefire in Ireland announced

DUBLIN (AP) — The nationalist Provisional Wing of the outlawed Irish Republican Army announced today a conditional cease-fire in its bomb-and-bullet campaign to unite Northern Ireland with the Irish republic. The cease-fire will start at midnight next Monday, the Provisionals said.

In London, the British administrator for the province said Britain will "obviously reciprocate" if the IRA wing calls a halt to the violence.

The Provisionals had said suspension of military activities would take effect from Monday provided its terms are reciprocated by the British army.

William Whitelaw, British administrator for the province, gave the government's initial answer to the cease-fire offer in the House of Commons.

He did so three hours after it was made and before even knowing the full terms of the military guerrillas.

The two developments, taken together, signaled a prospect for peace for the first time since the troubles started in Northern Ireland in 1969.

Court rules on exclusions in convictions

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Convictions of white defendants are invalid if Negroes were systematically excluded from the jury, the Supreme Court ruled 6 to 3 today.

Over the years the court has struck down guilty judgments returned against black defendants by juries from which blacks were pointedly excluded. Today's ruling was the first ever involving a white defendant.

Justice Thurgood Marshall, in the main opinion, said "when a grand or petit jury has been selected on an impermissible basis, the existence of a constitutional violation does not depend on the circumstances of the person making the claim."

The jury case came from Georgia where Dean Rene Peters, was convicted of burglary in Muscogee County and sentenced to 10 years in prison. Long after the 1966 trial he asked federal courts to set aside the judgment because the juries were drawn from racially segregated tax rolls and no Negroes served at his trial.

Marshall said if Peters can prove the systematic exclusion of blacks his conviction must fail.

Most state courts have come to an opposite view: That a defendant can upset his conviction on the basis of discriminatory jury selection only when the defendant and the people kept off the jury were of the same race.

Justices William O. Douglas and Potter Stewart backed Marshall's position that the "due process" provisions of the Constitution bar conviction of any defendant by a jury from which a particular race was systematically excluded.

Justices Byron R. White, William J. Brennan Jr. and Lewis F. Powell Jr. also ruled for Peters on the theory that racial exclusion of one group of jurors violates an 1875 federal civil rights law.

Dissenting were Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, Justices Harry A. Blackmun and William H. Rehnquist. Burger pointed out that the record in this case "in no way suggests that race was relevant in the proceedings."

Supreme Court bans school 'splintering'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today barred the splintering of school districts into smaller ones when the result is to perpetuate racial segregation.

The 5 to 4 ruling, in a case from rural Virginia, gives federal judges broad supervisory powers over the drawing of school district boundaries.

Although Justice Potter Stewart's majority opinion did not deal directly with cases other than the two before the court he gave out broad hints that strong actions by judges to break down school segregation elsewhere could be upheld.

In other actions today, the court held that convictions of white defendants are invalid if Negroes were systematically excluded from the jury.

—Ruled that a murder defendant's jailhouse confession to a policeman posing as a prisoner was "harmless error" and not enough to overturn his conviction.

Particularly, Stewart emphasized in the school district decision that the test of whether school boundaries are legally drawn was "the effect" upon the dismantling of racially separate school systems.

In a rare departure from virtual unanimity in school cases, the court split in barring the separation of Emporia, Va., from the Greensville County system.

The four Nixon administration appointees dissented in a bloc.

Council calls for action in rises in food prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cost of Living Council today begins considering the Price Commission's call for "firm and immediate action" to halt rising food prices by broadening President Nixon's controls on agricultural products.

After a day-long meeting Wednesday, the commission decided to make its recommendation to the council, which oversees the controls Nixon imposed last November.

A commission spokesman stopped short of telling newsmen the exact recommendation, but said the commission members "feel the problem exists because of the lack of control of raw agricultural products."

Raw agricultural products, which by government definition includes both live animals and vegetables, have been exempt from controls since the start of the program last Aug. 15. The administration has been reluctant to try to control such a volatile market.

The spokesman listed removal of the exemption as one of the main options. He also said the commission "is not currently recommending a freeze" on food prices, another principal option.

While the Cost of Living Council, headed by Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, is not bound by the commission's thinking, the price agency's recommendation will weigh heavily on any decision.

from midnight to 8 a.m. He wore a uniform on the job but his duties did not include the carrying of arms, Linn said.

A Bible and several religious paperback manuals were among the items police found in the 10-foot-square room where Grace lived alone.

The religious manuals were titled "Marching Orders for a New Day" and "They Walked With Christ."

A rumpled bed and two battered chairs with worn cushions were the only furniture in the room.

Displayed on a wall is an index card on which were copied the last two stanzas of Ernest Hanley's poem, "Invictus":

Beyond this place of wrath and tears

Looms but the horrors of the shade

And yet the menace of the years

Finds and shall find me unafraid.

It matters not how straight the gate

How charged with punishment the scroll

I am the master of my fate

I am the captain of my soul.

Warning issued about misleading mail ads

Some private insurance companies have been sending misleading advertisements to Medicare beneficiaries in the Texarkana area, according to Otis A. Blackwood, social security district manager, in an effort to sell them health insurance to supplement their Medicare protection. (The Texarkana Social Security office serves a 10-county area—Bowie and Cass County in Texas; Sevier, Hempstead, Lafayette, Little River, Polk, Howard, Nevada and Miller County in Arkansas.)

Blackwood said that the promotional literature distributed by these companies gives the reader the impression that the company is in some way connected with the Social Security Administration, or that it has access to the federal agency's records.

One company used an envelope that was almost identical to the envelopes social security uses to send out benefit checks, Blackwood remarked. He said that only careful reading of the fine print in the advertisement revealed the statement that the company was "not an agency of the state or federal government."

Blackwood stressed that the Social Security Administration does not endorse any privately-sponsored insurance plan designed to "supplement" Medicare benefits. He also emphasized that private insurance companies do not have access to social security records, which are confidential by law.

Blackwood indicated that most private insurance programs supplementing Medicare offer valuable additional protection and advertise honestly in their sales literature. "However," he said, "a few companies have engaged in practices which clearly are intended to mislead Medicare beneficiaries." He advised persons who are confused by material they get in the mail offering additional Medicare protection to get in touch with their nearest Social Security office, or their State Insurance Commission for further information.

Hope Band parents picnic, for senior, junior and beginner's bands will be held Saturday, June 24 at 2 p.m. in Hope Fair Park at the band stand. The picnic is for parents and band members.

Parents are requested to bring a covered dish; drinks and table service will be furnished by the organization.

There will be games and organized recreation after the picnic. For further information, call Mrs. Tom Buchholzer at 777-5255.

Births

It's a baby girl for Mr. and Mrs. Van Cheney of Albany, Ga. She is their first child, was born June 11, and has been named Courtney McClure. Grandparents are Mrs. Lamar Cox of Hope and Col. (ret.) and Mrs. Curtis Cheney of Reidsville, Ga.

Cox Family Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Cox were hosts for a family reunion at Fair Park on June 17, when 52 relatives of the late Oscar and Viola McClung assembled for a day of food, fun, and fellowship.

Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Louis McClung, Jr. and Mrs. M. Sanders, Mrs. Ocie Fincher, all of Saratoga; Mr. and Mrs. Garlon McClung, Texarkana; Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph McClung, Miami, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McClung, Little Rock; Mr. and Mrs. James McClung, Tyler, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Newt Black, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Black, all of Guernsey; Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Marshall, Murfreesboro; Mr. and Mrs. James Champion, Wake Village, Tex.

European Tour Planned

Five college girl friends left Wednesday, June 14, from Little Rock, drove to New York, and departed for Europe June 20. The group includes Kathy Knight and Janie Creel of Texarkana, Lynda Bearden of Hope, Kathy Otwell, sister of Mrs. Richard Schrader of Hope, and Sara Jean Jacks of Arkadelphia.

En route east, they visited with college friends, Mr. and Mrs. William Walker, in Nashville, Tenn., Lt. and Mrs. Jerry Turner, Ft. Eustis, Va., and with Miss Creel's parents in Niantic, Conn.

They plan to return the first week in August after visiting most of the European countries.

Coming, Going

Mrs. Lamar Cox has returned home from Albany, Ga., where she met her new granddaughter, Courtney McClure Cheney, and visited Mr. and Mrs. Van Cheney. Miss Lamar Cox has remained for a longer visit with the Cheneys.

Four members of the UMY at the First United Methodist Church are attending the senior conference camp being held this week. They are Patsy Burch, Anita McCauley, Mary Young, and Steve Routon. The latter is serving as a counselor.

Maj. and Mrs. James N. Holt and three sons, Wright Patterson AFB, Dayton, O., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Holt and other relatives and friends.

On Saturday Mrs. Oscar Browning, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Carter and twin daughters, all of Hot Springs, Joe Allen, and Lorie McClung of Waynesboro, Va., visited their grandmother and great-grandmother, Mrs. Riley Lewallen, and aunt, Mrs. Velma Collier. On Tuesday they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Robert McClung of Waynesboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Nolen Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Willett have returned home from Crossville and Carmi, Ill., where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Don Sitzes and Julie.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Saunders of Portales, New Mexico, are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Magee this week.

Nail Renewal

After removing nail polish, gently rub olive oil onto the nails to regain some of the luster and to prevent drying. Then push back cuticles, wash your nails and you're all set for new polish.

KAREN McJUNKINS

McJunkins-Wolf engaged

Mr. and Mrs. J.T. McJunkins of Saratoga announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Karen, to Howard Bronson Wolf, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard B. Wolf, also of Saratoga.

The wedding is planned for July 28 at 7:00 p.m. in the Saratoga Church of Christ. No invitations are being sent. All friends and relatives are invited.

THE GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Her Trap Backfires

Dear Rap:
A friend of mine is a big bragger. She lies to shock people—like saying she uses dope every weekend and can get it any time from her "boyfriend" (who we never see, incidentally.)

I figured I'd "catch" her, so I wrote her a note saying, "How about you getting us a six-pack and some grass and we'll have a party Saturday night?" I signed it with my name and Tracy's (my best friend).

As expected, she sent my note back with a dumb excuse written on the bottom. So Tracy and I had a good laugh.

But wouldn't you know? Mom was looking through my books and she came across the note! She called Tracy's mother and we're in trouble! They're going to get in touch with Donna's Mom, too. (Donna's the bragger.)

The way it looks now we'll all be grounded this summer or anyway watched like hawks—all because of a joke. We aren't dopers!

Help!—INNOCENT TWO

Innocent:
If all three of you—plus some friends who know the story—tell it to your parents straight, they'll probably believe you—unless they've got other reasons for distrust.

Good luck to Donna—she needs it more than you two do! —SUE

Dear Two:

I think Donna has her values scrambled—and perhaps this "discovery" will do her more good than harm. When a girl lies to downgrade her reputation, she may be wishing it were so, as this is her only route to acceptance.

She needs friendship, not tricks that make her look ridiculous. —HELEN

I can't take any more. I used to be about my scars and bruises. I was ashamed and couldn't let people know.

I finally told my father if he beat me again I'd go to the Welfare Agency, and he said I'd be sorry and then he knocked me across the room. Now I'm scared. What if they made me a freak after I talked to them?

I told my girl friend now I got the scars. I left the scars on and she said against my arm to help me. When my friend's mother saw the black and blue marks and old scars from other beatings, she said I could come and live with them and she'd make the complaint against my parents, but I don't want her to be in danger. My father has a wild temper.

The only way is to run off, but I'm just 14 and where would I go? I'm not an angel and I can't help hating my parents. But I'm not a devil either, though my father tries to beat the Hell out of me. My mother hits too—but not as hard.

Please change this so they won't know I'm writing, and tell me what to do. —CALL ME "ALMOST RUNAWAY"

Dear A.R.:
The Child Welfare Agency in your town assures us you will receive protection, counseling, and care in a good foster home, if one is indicated. Don't let fear of your father's rages keep you from seeking help there.

A child-beater is often a coward; he won't cause trouble when he knows further cruelties of the type you describe may land him in jail. —HELEN AND SUE

Rap:
Somebody in your column mentioned that Japanese people wear face masks in crowds to protect the wearer from catching cold. Correction: The Japanese, being fine, polite and considerate folks, wear masks when they HAVE colds, to protect others. —B.V.

OSSO BUCCO WITH PASTA

A skillet dish adapted from Italian cuisine
3 tablespoons olive oil
1 clove garlic minced
4 veal shanks
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup dry white wine or chicken broth
1 cup water
1/4 teaspoon tabasco sauce
6 strips lemon peel
3 anchovy filets, chopped
1/4 cup minced parsley
1 box (12 ounces) bow-shaped pasta, cooked

In a large skillet heat the oil. Add garlic and cook 2 minutes. Meanwhile roll veal shanks in flour and salt. Add veal to skillet and brown on all sides. Pour wine, water and tabasco into skillet, cover and continue cooking about 1 hour, add more water if necessary. During last 5 minutes of cooking add lemon peel and anchovy. Remove veal to serving plate. Sprinkle with parsley, surround with pasta. Pour sauce over all. Makes 4 servings.

Union for doctors?
It's a possibility!

By BILL STOCKTON
AP Science Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The American Medical Association has before it for the first time measures asking whether a doctor should join a union that would bargain collectively about fees and working conditions and possibly strike to back its demands.

The proposals seek only to create study commissions to determine the legal ramifications of physicians' unions.

But their presence for consideration today or Wednesday by the AMA's governing House of Delegates reflects a new, militant movement among doctors that elates some physicians and frightens others.

The AMA House's action on the measures, some physicians feel, could have an important effect on medical care and doctors' relationships with patients a few years from now.

In March, 30 Las Vegas, Nev., doctors formed what they described as the first doctors' union affiliated with the AFL-CIO. They were chartered as Nevada Physicians Union Local 676 by the Service Employees International Union.

Spokesmen said the group wouldn't enter collective bargaining with anyone. But if such unions spread and take on national stature, they might negotiate with "third-party carriers" such as insurance companies over fees, salaries and working conditions, they said.

Striking was ruled out. Last month, the Florida Medical Association formed what it termed a "guild" or "bargaining unit." One of its primary purposes will be to "represent and protect" physician members in dealing with third parties.

It also will "promote the socioeconomic welfare of the physicians."

Most AMA officials oppose doctors' unions.

"I think when you form a union, the real value is a strike.

When you strike you are going against absolutely the ethics of medicine," Dr. Carl A. Hoffman of Huntington, W. Va., said in an interview. He will become AMA president Wednesday.

Unions in other countries have done little to help the doctors or patients, he said.

But the movement, he said, "does point out the fact physicians are really upset by a lot of things. They are upset about attacks upon them both by law and certain groups, such as consumer groups."

The Virginia and Maryland delegations have introduced essentially identical resolutions asking the AMA to find out if doctors can legally form unions.

The problem, union critics point out, is that most doctors are self-employed and thus are barred under antitrust laws from forming groups to attempt to set fees.

New magazine appears in Arkansas

An attempt to promote "advocacy journalism" in Arkansas appeared in Little Rock this month in the form of a tabloid newspaper entitled "Arkansas Advocate."

Founded and edited by Martin Kirby, former reporter for the Arkansas Democrat, the magazine is scheduled to appear monthly.

Relying on interview and feature-type material, Kirby's first issue consists of 16 pages and includes a two-page picture section form the works of photographer Steve Keesee of Little Rock.

One of the contributing editors for the Arkansas Advocate is George Smith, managing editor of the Star. Smith plans to write several stories for the magazine.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB
What is lifespan of cancer patient?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb My husband passed away recently from advanced cancer of the lower left lung. The doctor removed all of the left lung and had to scrape the cancer from his heart. The doctor operated on a Tuesday and my husband was up and walking on Friday. One week after the operation, the doctor gave him a cobalt treatment, and three days later, he died. What chance did he have of living or how long could he have lived?

Dear Reader No one can answer that question in any individual case exactly. There have been some astonishing examples of people who have lived much longer than usual, even though they have very advanced malignant disease.

A person with cancer of the lung which has already spread as your letter suggests, has only a minimal chance of living very long after the operation.

This does not mean that all cancers of the lung are hopeless. A number of them have been detected early enough to result in a cure for five or more years.

Cancer of the lungs is one of the most common cancers in men and 90 per cent occur in cigarette smokers. Individuals who are heavy smokers are the ones who most often develop cancer of the lungs. There are some types of cancer of the lungs which are relatively rare and can occur in individuals who are non-smokers. But essentially, the non-smoking population rarely has cancer of the lungs.

Dear Dr. Lamb As an individual who has had his larynx removed, I was particularly interested in one of your columns describing a procedure for fashioning a voice box from the skin of the patient. This subject is of intense interest to many individuals who are struggling along to achieve adeptness in the use of the esophageal speech, or in the use of a buzzer. Where can one have such surgery done and how long a period of hospitalization would be involved?

Dear Reader I have received many letters about this. The initial reports about the procedure stated that it was done by Doctors J. Simon McGrail and David O. Oldfield, Toronto Medical School and Wellesley Hospital, Toronto, Canada. The operation is said to produce a good quality voice by fashioning a voice box from the patient's own skin.

To find out more information talk to your own doctor about it and let him contact Drs. McGrail and Oldfield by writing to the Toronto Medical School, Toronto, Canada, or he may have some other source of additional information. Although the original procedure was credited to the two Canadian doctors, most new surgical procedures that have real promise are rather quickly adopted by other surgeons.

Testimony continues at labor relations hearing

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — A National Labor Relations Board hearing into charges that the National Football League refuses to bargain with players on fines and artificial turf safety entered its third day today with owners presenting their arguments.

Theodore Kheel, NFL attorney, testified for 90 minutes Wednesday explaining certain areas of the league's contract with the National Football League Players Association.

Kheel was to continue his testimony today and be cross-examined by NFLPA attorneys.

The NLRB issued a complaint against NFL owners for refusing to bargain on the questions, and ordered them to return $20,000 in fines levied against players who left the bench to join on-field fights during the 1971 season. The owners asked for a hearing on the matter.

Mevin Welles, trial examiner, is not expected to make a decision in the case for at least a month after testimony is completed today or Friday.

The NFLPA completed its testimony late Wednesday with Alan Page, the Minnesota Vikings defensive tackle who was the NFL's most valuable player in 1971, testifying that the players were unaware of the rule that prohibits them from leaving the bench.

Edward R. Garvey, executive director of the NFLPA, earlier testified that NFL owners have told him repeatedly that the players have no rights to negotiate under their current contract.

He said that several owners claim the existence of a so-called "zipper" clause stating the complete and final agreement on all bargainable subjects for duration of the contract.

But Garvey said this clause was modified to say that "any change in current practices affecting employment conditions of the players shall be negotiated in good faith."

Perry rubs it in again by defeating Twins 4-2

By HERSCHEL NISSESON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Gaylord Perry didn't have much Wednesday night ... probably because he gave it to Bill Rigney the night before.

When the Cleveland Indians arrived in Minnesota on Tuesday, Twins' Manager Rigney found a tube of sticky ointment on his desk, courtesy of Perry. Rigney had accused the veteran right-hander of doctoring the baseball when Perry beat the Twins and Bert Blyleven 7-1 two weeks ago.

So Perry rubbed it in again by beating the Twins—and Blyleven—4-2 Wednesday night.

Elsewhere in the American League, Detroit took over undisputed possession of first place in the East Division by downing Oakland while California toppled Baltimore 6-3. The Chicago White Sox trounced Milwaukee 9-3 and Boston out-slugged Texas 10-9 in 11 innings. Kansas City and New York were rained out.

National League scores: New York Mets 5, Houston 4; Cincinnati 6, Montreal 4; Los Angeles 5, Pittsburgh 3 in 10 innings; San Francisco 4, Chicago Cubs 0; Philadelphia 9, Atlanta 7 and St. Louis 14, San Diego 3.

Perry, who has been accused of putting everything from saliva to greasy kid stuff on the baseball, didn't have his best stuff but still joined Chicago's Wilbur Wood and Detroit's Mickey Lolich as the major leagues' only 11-game winners.

"It was a tough nine innings," he said. "I struggled all the way. I don't know what the trouble was, but I do know I have to have a good defense or I have trouble winning."

Shortstop Frank Duffy made two fine catches of line drives and third baseman Graig Nettles bailed Perry out of a sticky situation in the ninth. With one run already in, two on and two out, Nettles knocked down a smash by Harmon Killebrew and turned it into a game-ending forecheck.

Ray Fosse homered for the Indians in the second inning and Duffy followed with a triple and scored on Del Unser's sacrifice fly. The Indians got the decisive runs in the eighth against reliever Dave LaRoche when Chris Chambliss walked and Nettles homered.

Tom Tolverman pitched Detroit into sole possession of first place by checking Oakland on five hits, including Mike Epstein's eighth-inning homer.

The Tigers wrapped it up in the top of the eighth against Ken Holtzman when Tolverman got an infield hit, Tony Taylor lashed his second double of the game and Al Kaline was purposely passed. Bill Freehan then doubled to right-center and all three runners scored for a 5-1 lead when center fielder Reggie Jackson bobbled the ball.

Bob Oliver's two-run single highlighted a four-run rally in the seventh that lifted the Angels over Baltimore and dropped the Orioles into second place.

Baltimore had taken a 3-2 lead in the top of the seventh on run-scoring singles by Don Buford and Paul Blair—Merv Rettenmund homered for the Orioles' first run—when California teed off on relievers Doyle Alexander and Eddie Watt.

The White Sox exploded for eight runs in the eighth inning to erase a 3-1 deficit and bury the Brewers. Dick Allen drew a leadoff walk from Bill Parsons and Bill Melton singled. With a 2-1 count on Rick Reichardt, Ken Sanders replaced Parsons and completed the walk. Reichardt eventually scored the go-ahead run, making Parsons the loser.

Ed Herrmann tied the game with a two-run single and a single by Luis Alvarado put Chicago in front. Frank Linzy

Littler is determined to take up clubs again

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Golfer Gene Littler, still recovering from cancer surgery on the lymph glands under his left arm, says he is determined to take up the clubs again and isn't ruling out a return to the pro circuit.

"There's no question in my mind that I'm going to try," the winner of the 1961 U.S. Open said in an interview. But he doesn't anticipate making the effort to play again for at least a month and possibly two or three.

"No one can say how well I'll play," Littler said. "The doctors won't stick their necks out and say I'll play as good as ever.

"But the way I feel now—real well, although my arm isn't as strong as it was and doesn't have the mobility it did—but the way I feel and have been progressing, I think it will be nearly as good as new. I feel like I'll be able to do it."

Littler, who at 41 is golf's fifth all-time money winner with more than $800,000, had a malignant cancer tumor removed from his lymph glands March 15 and then underwent surgery again April 4 to have all the gland-bearing tissue under the arm removed.

No further trace of the potentially fatal disease was found.

"I feel like I'm making real good progress," he says. "It's slow but these things are. I've been patient and I think I've seen a little bit of progress each week. Most of the strength is back in my arm. I can lift it up now."

There is still some muscle and nerve activity to regain, and for this Gene is swimming, exercising and seeing doctors three times a week for therapy and what he calls an electrical stimulation program.

Although he thinks he could swing a golf club now, he sees no need to rush it. "Time is the only thing we have to wait for now," he said.

Sarazen and his knickers hold up fine

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

MARCO ISLAND, Fla. — (NEA)—It would seem a fitting end to a spectacular career if Gene Sarazen, strolling bowlegged along the beach here, would go off knickered and shelling into the sunset.

Sarazen is not having any of that romantic folderol. He is now 70 years old and as doughty as he was 50 years ago when he won the U.S. Open with a final-round 68.

He still wears knickers. And he does amble along the beach here for shells. But he does it twice a day—in early morning and then in late afternoon—five miles at a time, to keep his legs and eyes in shape for his golf game.

His regimen works so well that he can still shoot a 69, as he did last Feb. 28, the day after his birthday.

The firm sand obviously helps strengthen the leg. As for the eye, "Shelling," said Sarazen, "is good for the golfer. It teaches him to keep his head down."

Even after 50 years of high-level golf, Sarazen admittedly still is learning and observing.

"If there is one single thing I attribute to sticking around so long — of having been able to compete from the generation of Francis Ouimet to those of Jones and Hagen and Hogan and Palmer and Trevino—that one attribute would be that I was a great observer," says Sarazen, at his beach-front home here.

He might incorporate an aspect of a good putting stance, or astutely notice a certain rub of the green.

One of his most memorable early lessons in observation came in his teens when he was a caddy at Apawamis in Westchester, New York. Ed Sullivan, later to gain fame as an unwitting television comedian, and Sarazen were caddies. Sullivan's number was 98 and Sarazen's was 99. Their numbers came up this one afternoon to caddy for the next twosome.

Sarazen recalls this incident with dark eyes bright with amusement, and a raconteur's relish.

"We saw these two men coming toward us," said Sarazen. "One was dressed in white flannels, a big belly and had an expensive golf bag. He was the New York police commissioner, a man named Enright. The other man looked like he needed a good meal. His clothes looked like hand-me-downs. He had a little cheap Sunday bag, with six rusty, hickory-shaft clubs in it.

"Well, Ed, he could run like Paavo Nurmi in those days. He dashed out and grabbed the expensive bag. I got stuck with the other one."

"The guy I got turned out to be Grantland Rice, who had just come from Tennessee to live in New York. The commissioner gave Ed a two-buck tip. And Rice gave me a big tip. And I learned a lesson: Don't always judge a man by his bag."

Giants bring Fox to his knees in 2-0 shutout

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The way the San Francisco Giants are going this season, it was bound to happen. They've finally brought Manager Charlie Fox to his knees.

Defending National League West champions, the Giants have spent most of the 1972 baseball season buried at the bottom of their division. Temper grow short in the kind of campaign the Giants are living through and last weekend Manager Fox and pitcher Ron Bryant exchanged angry words over what the left-hander thought was a quick hook.

"If Bryant brings in a shut-out," said Fox before sending the lefty out to face the Chicago Cubs Wednesday, "I'll go out on my hands and knees to him."

With the manager's foot positioned neatly in front of his mouth, Bryant naturally blanked the Cubs 2-0 on a two-hitter. Fox came out to congratulate him and did a neat salaam, just as he had promised.

In other National League games Wednesday night, Cincinnati regained first place in the West, knocking off Montreal while the New York Mets were topping Houston 5-4. The Mets crept within five percentage points of first place Pittsburgh in the East race as the Pirates bowed to Los Angeles 5-3 in 10 innings. Philadelphia out-slugged Atlanta 9-7 and St. Louis routed San Diego 14-3.

In the American League, Boston edged Texas 10-9 in 11 innings. Chicago topped Milwaukee 9-3, Cleveland topped Minnesota 4-2, Detroit trimmed Oakland 5-2 and took over first place in the East when California knocked off Baltimore 6-3.

"The added pressure in this game probably made it the most important I ever pitched," said Bryant, who seemed embarrassed by Fox's performance. The Cubs were embarrassed by Bryant, managing only a leadoff single by Don Kessinger and an eighth-inning single by Billy Williams.

The Giants used consecutive singles by Dave Rader, Alan Gallagher and Tito Fuentes for a run in the second and added two more in the fifth on RBI hits by Ken Henderson and Dave Kingman.

The loss snapped a seven-game Cub winning streak.

Cincinnati spotted Montreal an early three-run lead and then bounced from behind to overtake the Expos and reclaim first place in the West.

Pete Rose tripled home two runs in the second inning and then triggered a three-run fifth with a leadoff single to spark the Reds' rally. It was his triple that got the Reds back in business.

Manager resigns

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — When the El Paso Sun Dodgers, the Los Angeles Dodgers' Class AA farm club, meet Alexandria in tonight's Texas League baseball game, they will be under a new manager.

Monty Basgell, 48, resigned as skipper of the Sun Dodgers Wednesday. He cited personal reasons for leaving the team.

Basgell's resignation meant a promotion for Stan Wasiak, 53, who came to El Paso to take over the club this morning.

Wasiak had been manager of Los Angeles' Class A franchise in Daytona Beach.

Amateur tourney continues

HUNSTANTON, England (AP) — America's Curtis Cup team, headed by Jane Booth of Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., moved into the match play portion of the British Women's Amateur Golf Championships today.

Miss Booth completed the two-round qualifying Wednesday, with a seven-over-par 82 for a 36-hole total of 157 on the windswept 6,070-yard, par 38-37-75 Hunstanton Links.

Her total score was only two shots behind leading qualifier Belle Robertson of Scotland.

"We have wind in the states, but here it tries to blow you over," said Beth Barry of Mobile, Ala., who qualified with an 82-78-160.

"It was cold outside," said Lucy Smith of New York City, another stroke back at 161 after rounds of 81-80. "We just couldn't wait to get back in the clubhouse."

Other American qualifiers included Laura Baugh, Long Beach, Calif., 80-82-162; Martha Kirovack, Rancho Bernardo, Calif., 83-86-169; Hollis Stacy, Savannah, Ga., 73-97-170.

Hope defeats Salem

The Hope American Legion beat Salem (Benton) by the score of 8-1 Tuesday night behind the three hit pitching of Bill Rowland. In nine innings, Rowland allowed one run on three hits, while striking out six and walking none. It was Rowland's fifth win of the season against no losses.

Hope struck quickly in the game, scoring twice in the first inning when Paul Young walked and stole second. Buddy Ingram followed with a single driving in Young. Rowland then singled to center scoring Ingram.

The Legion blew the game open in the fifth inning with five big runs. David Huddleston delivered the big blow with a single driving in two runs.

The Little Rock based team scored their lone run in the fourth on a misplayed punt.

The leading hitter for Hope was Rowland with a single and a triple. Jimmy Fincher, Bubba Powers, Buddy Ingram, Gary Rhodes and David Huddleston each had runs batted in.

Credit also must be given to the defense that made only one error. Defensive stand-outs were Jimmy Arrington, Tim White, Paul Young, and Buddy Ingram.

The Legions next game will be Saturday night, 7:30 at Legion Field, Hope, against Texarkana.

Scheduled starting pitcher for Hope will be either Mike Downs (5-1) or Richard Butler (3-1).

Anxiety deepens as search continues

LONDON (AP) — Anxiety over the safety of Jean Yves Terlain, crewman of the biggest yacht in the singlehanded Transatlantic race, deepened today.

For the third straight day Wednesday the Frenchman failed to make scheduled radio contact with his base. And none of the boats which did report had any news of the race favorite.

The Observer newspaper of London, which is sponsoring the contest, thought Terlain's radio transmitter was probably out of action, but admitted "there is some concern."

Gale force winds and pounding seas have buffeted many of the nearly 50 yachts heading for Newport, R.I., since Saturday.

Terlain, who is manning the 128-foot Schooner Vendredi 13, has more of a handful than the other competitors. His yacht is twice the length of any challenger.

The bad weather has hit yachts taking the Great Circle northerly route across the ocean. These are mostly the monohulls, the multi-hulls heading for calmer waters further south.

clubs other than his own, Dr. Gray is an authority on Kiwanis, a fact revealed by his talk.

"Kiwanis is a volunteer organization", said the speaker, "and if clubs were doing what they should be doing and living up to the high standards of community service that we preach, we should have good men knocking at our doors, trying to get into Kiwanis."

Mrs. Gray flew down from Little Rock with her husband as did Alex Harris, Atley Woods and Charles Johnston, three members of the Downtown Little Rock Club for an inter-club meeting. Other guests were Terry Johnson of Jonesboro and Charles Sullivan of Camden, preacher and song leader in a revival in progress at Unity Baptist Church, Joe Weaver, Gene Gammill, Dr. J.W. Branch, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lester, Mrs. Lynn Harris, Mrs. Jim McKenzie, and Mrs. Henry Haynes.

HOUSTON (AP) — Members of the 1946 World Champion St. Louis Cardinals and the 1947 Texas League and Dixie series champion Houston Buffs will oppose one another in the old-timers baseball game July 4 in the Astrodome.

Terry Moore, captain of the 1946 Cardinal team, will manage the Cards in the game.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Orville "Butch" Henry III, for the past year assistant sports information director at Oklahoma State University, has been named to succeed Mickey Holmes as service bureau director of the Big Eight Conference.

Henry, 23, will begin his new job July 5. Holmes resigned to accept a position as commissioner of the Missouri Valley Conference with headquarters in Tulsa, Okla.

Attend workshop here

Approximately 125 persons attended a Rural Life Conference Workshop at the Red River Vocational School Wednesday. Leaders of the Model Cities program, Operation Mainstream, and Farmers Home Administration addressed the group. L.J. Washington, assistant administrator, FHA and Equal Employment Opportunity, Washington D.C., was the keynote speaker.

Calendar Of Events
The Sunday School Department of Shorter Chapel A.M.E. Church will sponsor a weiner roast on the Church Campus in Tulsa, Okla.

Saturday evening June 24, from 7 to 9. The public is invited.

The Nursery Department of Mt. Zion C.M.E. Church is having an Apron Rally, Sunday morning. We are asking all who have aprons and envelopes to turn them in. Refreshment will be served after the rally at 10:45 a.m.

Bethel Hears Layman In Church Service Series
It is somewhat unusual in the absence of the pastor of a church congregation for the group to resist the temptation of a ministerial substitute or a visiting minister. Such is the case with the congregation of Bethel A.M.E. Church.

On Sunday, June 25, at 10:50 a.m. Mrs. Loretta Hall, young adult member of Bethel will be lay-speaker and will deliver the lay-sermon from the pulpit.

Mrs. Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Williams of Hope is a high school graduate of the Hope School System and has done technical study at Red River Vocational Technical School. Mrs. Hall, the former Loretta Williams of Hope is married to Alfred Hall of Lewisville and they have one son. Mr. Hall is employed with the United States Postal Service at Texarkana as a city mail carrier. Mrs. Hall will be introduced by Mrs. Ethel Garland.

On Sunday, July 2, at 10:50 a.m. Mrs. Lillie M. Davis, former public school teacher in Hope Public Schools and former State Missionary in the A.M.E. Church will preach the lay-sermon. Mrs. Davis' wealth of experience and elaborate literary training occasion her a most productive and resourceful speaker, said the stewards of Bethel Church. Mrs. Davis will be introduced by Mrs. Rosie L. Davis.

The Junior Choir will provide the music for Sunday and The Senior Choir under the direction of Miss Brenda Wilson will sing on July 2nd. Reginold Muldrew son of Mr. and Mrs. William Muldrew will be piano accompanist. Larry Muldrew and Edward Williams will preside respectively.

Dr. W. G. Wynn Church, Pastor is attending an international conference in Dallas, Texas.

The public is invited to both services

Prisoners make new neck brace

FOLSOM, Calif. (AP) — To ease the agony of an 8-year-old burn victim, two Folsom Prison inmates have donated their skill, time and money to fashion a super smooth neck brace which is unavailable commercially.

With it, Kearey Allison's neck skin grafts are expected to remain immobilized while healing without the painful chafing he's had with previous braces.

"I think it's great," said Kearey's father, George, of Oakland. "My attitude has changed toward those guys up there. This has helped out a lot."

Allison figures that if he could have found someone to custom-make an acceptable brace it would have cost $1,500.

"This isn't costing us anything—terrific," he added.

Kearey was burned badly about the neck, face and back in a camping accident two years ago, and underwent skin grafts.

To heal properly, the grafts must be immobile, but braces available on the market were irritating to Kearey. One brace after another failed. Kearey's story eventually got into the newspapers and was spotted by a Folsom Prison crafts clerk.

The problem came into the hands of convicts Donald Baxter, 50, and Morgan Leach, 52. Leach had a background in physiotherapy and Baxter a talent for art and designing. The result was an all-leather brace faced with soft deerskin to go next to the grafts. Kearey will get it later this week.

All the work was done with the approval of prison authorities and cooperation of the Allison, who had a plaster cast made of Kearey's neck and sent it to Folsom. The inmates paid for brace materials, which cost a little under $100.

The prison declined to give further information on Baxter and Leach.

STRIKE CALLED OFF

LONDON (AP) — A threatened strike over pay rates by pilots of the state-owned British European Airways was called off late Wednesday night. The British Airlines Pilots Association reported.

A new agreement between pilots and management was understood to provide top pilot pay of $24,700 a year by next April. The current rate is $20,880.

Murphy is top contender in Western Golf Tourney

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

NORTHBROOK, Ill. (AP) — He hasn't won this season, finished tied for 63rd last week but, paradoxically, may be one of the top contenders in the $150,000 Western Open Golf Tournament.

That's Bob Murphy, who beat only six players—one of them an amateur—in last week's United States Open Championship in the wind and cold at Pebble Beach, Calif.

"I just can't fight that cold," Murphy said. "I never have been able to play in the cold. Last week my back tightened up on me and that was it."

He opened with a 79, improved to make the cut, then fell back with closing rounds of 83 and 75.

"But, really, I'm playing real good right now," Murphy said before teeing off today, in the first round of the 72-hole chase on the 6,716-yard, par 71 Sunset Ridge Country Club Course.

"Last week it was just my back. With some hot weather here—and I hope it changes and gets hot—I should be okay."

The 29-year old Murphy, who went to the University of Florida on a baseball scholarship before shifting to golf at a relatively late age, hasn't won since 1970, but has played some of the best golf of his career this season.

He lost in a playoff and has been ninth or better 10 times this season—including three in a row before the National Open. He's won $78,157.

"I was in a little slump there for awhile," Murphy said, chewing on his inevitable cigar. "Then I got it sorted out again."

Murphy, whose three career victories all have come on courses much like this one, was one of the favorites for the $30,000 first prize along with Australian Bruce Crampton, the defending title holder.

Some other top candidates included $100,000 winners Tom Weiskopf and George Archer, and veterans Billy Casper, Doug Sanders and Chi-Chi Rodriguez.

Jack Nicklaus, who won the U.S. Open last weekend, Arnold Palmer and South African Gary Player, are not competing. Lee Trevino withdrew because of exhaustion and the lingering effects of a recent illness.

Travelers defeated

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Two homers by Scotty Wolfe helped the Amarillo Giants to a 6-4 victory over Arkansas in Texas League baseball here Wednesday night.

Wolfe's shots, each with nobody on base, came in the second and fourth innings. They were his first home runs of the season.

Bill Bright got four hits in five trips for the Travelers and drove in two runs and scored one.

Diplomacy top of president's election plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is putting on an unusual display of high-level personal diplomacy by jetting top aides to far-away places around the globe.

Friday is the next homecoming for security adviser Henry A. Kissinger, returning from his latest nonsecret Peeking trip. Kissinger returned June 12 from Tokyo, after flying in June 1 from the Moscow summit.

Saturday is take-off day for Secretary of State William P. Rogers on a 16-day nine-nation swing around the world from Australia through East Europe. Rogers stopped in parts of West Europe on his way back from the Moscow parley.

At the airport the same day will be Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, heading south for a fortnight of talks with financial leaders in Argentina, Peru, Venezuela and Brazil.

These same Latin American lands have just been visited by former Secretary of Treasury John B. Connally, who is now in Asia on a globe-circling Nixon assignment. Connally, whose itinerary will include 18 countries by latest count, has been traveling since June 6.

On July 2, Nixon's science adviser, Dr. Edward E. David Jr., will lead a delegation to Moscow to work out scientific projects with the Russians.

Following David to the Soviet capital will be Secretary of Commerce Peter G. Peterson. His mission: to lay groundwork for expanding U.S.-Soviet trade. Nixon critics are portraying this prominent to-and-fro'ing, all announced by the White House, as unnecessary razzle-dazzle aimed at keeping Nixon's foreign-policy efforts in the limelight as the presidential campaign heats up.

With Peking and Moscow spectacles behind him, they suggest, the President wants to keep the public mindful of his dramatic foreign moves since he himself has no further overseas journey planned before November.

Administration supporters paint a different picture, lauding each of the V.I.P. missions as meritorious in its own right. And they say that the direct, personal contact with foreign leaders adds a valuable dimension to what can be accomplished by more traditional lower-level diplomacy.

GOP officials named

Bill Feathers, at right, of McCaskill was elected county chairman at the Hempstead County Republican Convention Monday. Also elected were Tommy Love, at left, vice chairman, Mrs. Paul Klipsch, vice chairwoman and Mrs. Feathers, secretary-treasurer. Other elected but not shown are Clarence Geist, regional and district committeeman, Haskell Jones, state committeeman, and Mrs. Helen Hatch, state committeewoman. The following were elected as delegates to the Republican State Convention Saturday, July 15 in Little Rock: Mrs. Lynn Harris, the Rev. W.T. Keyes, Mrs. Paul Klipsch, and Mrs. Terry Becherer. Alternate delegates are: Love, Mrs. Haskell Jones, Mrs. Paul Rawson, Mrs. Geist and Effie Shell. Plans were made for several fund-raising events, and Mrs. Lynn Harris was appointed general campaign chairman for Hempstead County.

Israel follows up attack

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel followed up its attack on villages and guerrilla camps in southeast Lebanon Wednesday with artillery attacks on two border villages today, Lebanese in the area reported.

There was no confirmation from Israel, and the Lebanese untaxed intoxicating liquor, Fined $206.50 on plea of guilty barred Western newsmen from the area. There were also unconfirmed reports that Israeli tanks had crossed the border again today in the Mt. Hermon area that was attacked Wednesday.

Israeli patrols were active along Israel's side of the border today, searching all cars and keeping a sharp lookout for any attempt by the Palestine guerrillas to retaliate for Wednesday's strike.

The Lebanese government and the guerrilla command claimed the Israeli raiders killed 23 Arabs—9 Lebanese and 14 guerrillas—and wounded 33 in the air, artillery and ground attacks on the village of Hasbaya and nearby guerrilla camps on the western slope of Mt. Hermon. But other sources in Beirut said the number of dead and wounded was closer to 150.

The Israelis said they also captured 10 prisoners, including a Syrian brigadier general and four colonels who were ambushed during an inspection tour with a Lebanese military delegation. One Lebanese officer was among the prisoners, Israel said.

Guerrilla leader Yasir Arafat termed the raid a "flagrant, premeditated and unprovoked aggression against Lebanon." Lebanon complained to the U.N. Security Council. The Syrian Foreign Ministry urged mobilization of world opinion to "secure the immediate release of the kidnapped officers."

Israel said it carried out the strikes in retaliation for attacks Tuesday by Palestine guerrillas from Lebanon in which two Israeli soldiers and two civilians were wounded.

An Israeli officer said the raids also were undertaken because of guerrilla plans to perform "spectacular new missions" like the Tel Aviv International airport massacre May 30 in which 27 persons were killed by Japanese terrorists working for the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine.

The general feeling in Beirut was that the attack constituted a delayed retaliation for the airport massacre.

Lebanese Premier Saeb Salam said the strafing of Hasbaya was a "criminal act" that "resulted in the destruction of many houses and the death and wounding of scores of innocent citizens including women and children."

Man is acquitted of piracy

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Bobby Wayne Wallace has been acquitted of air piracy charges, ending a trial in which he was portrayed as an unwilling partner to a friend "who went mad that night."

A federal court jury Wednesday night found Wallace innocent of a kidnap-skyjacking last Oct. 4 that began in Nashville, Tenn., and ended with three killings at Jacksonville International Airport.

"A first look on the surface, he seemed to be guilty," attorney James Neal of Nashville said of his client. "If you went into it deeply, you found it was quite different. I'm thankful the jury went into it that deeply and came to the same conclusion we, his attorneys, did."

The air piracy charge carried a potential death penalty and a minimum of 20 years in prison on conviction.

The jury also acquitted Wallace, former owner of a night-spot who now manages a Nashville restaurant, of lesser charges of transporting a kidnapped person in interstate commerce, intimidating the pilots of an air carrier and carrying a concealed weapon aboard an aircraft.

Wallace was accused of helping George M. Giffe Jr., 35, kidnap Susan Giffe, 25, Giffe's estranged wife, and force two pilots of a plane Giffe chartered for a trip to Atlanta to take them to Jacksonville with plans to refuel and continue to Freeport, Bahamas.

FBI agents intercepted the plane here, refused it fuel and disabled it with gunfire. Thereupon, the FBI said, Giffe shot to death his wife, pilot Brent Q. Downs, 29, and himself.

Wallace and co-pilot Randall G. Crump had left the plane to bargain for fuel and escaped injury.

Wallace told newsmen: "George Giffe was just as he was portrayed in the courtroom. He did go mad that night. I had never seen that side of him before."

Wallace had testified he expected to go to Nashville Metropolitan Airport only to drive Giffe's car back to town.

Milwaukee mayor has a new fight

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Milwaukee Mayor Henry Maier, who for three years led the now nearly victorious fight for revenue sharing, says the next goal for the nation's mayors is to force the suburbs to assist in caring for the poor.

"The next priority is to get the entire metropolitan area to assume the burdens of poverty by enabling poor people to live outside the center city," said Maier. "It is going to be very tough to get this recognized as a national necessity, but it's a fight we have to take on. I don't see any alternative."

This neat, pipe-smoking mayor may seem like a David before the Goliath of opposition to racially and economically open housing in the suburbs, but nine years ago in Palo Alto he coined a phrase at a mayors conference with his demand for "a reordering of national priorities." This year every candidate for president claims that he has done that or will do it.

"I know we face political impracticabilities in this fight, but ultimately that would be quicker and less costly than to have the poor rattling around in the sandbox of the center cities as we have now with no end in sight," Maier said.

Asked if he had heard any presidential candidates talking about open housing this year, Maier said, "No, but in nine years we have accomplished a goal. People are now thinking about reordering national priorities. Important institutions like the Urban Coalition and the Brookings Institution and even a presidential candidate are not just talking about it but actually writing alternative federal budgets."

And, Maier said, in 1963 the federal government spent $5.5 billion in programs that helped cities and now the figure is $33 billion.

For the last three years, Maier has been the chief advocate among the mayors for revenue-sharing, their No. 1 priority, a program to give cities federal aid without restrictions on its use.

"Romeo, Romeo, wherefore played thou the queen of spades, Romeo?" asked Juliet. Juliet wasn't much of a bridge player, but she was a good kibitzer and did not ask her question until after Romeo and Mercutio had set Tybalt a trick at his three no-trump contract.

Romeo had made his normal opening lead of the heart queen. Tybalt let it hold but won the second heart. Then he led his three of spades and Romeo had gone up with the queen. Tybalt had taken dummy's ace; returned to his hand with a diamond; led a second spade and played dummy's jack.

Mercutio scored the second spade trick for the defense and led his last heart. Eventually Romeo had taken the last two tricks with the ace of clubs and his last heart.

In case any readers feel the same way about that second hand high play as Juliet did, it really couldn't lose.

If South held the king of spades, Romeo's queen was as dead as Romeo himself was at the end of the last act of the Shakespeare tragedy.

The way the cards actually lay, if Romeo had played a low spade Tybalt would have finessed dummy's eight. This is the best play with the actual spade combination since it will lose only one spade trick any time West's original holding includes the 10 of spades and at least one of the higher honors.

Heart disease is dentists' target

PARAMUS, N.J. (AP) — A group of dentists is checking the blood pressure of patients under a pilot program aimed at early detection of heart disease, the No. 1 killer in the United States.

Fifteen dentists who have volunteered to take part in the program during the next two months will measure their patients' blood pressure and refer those with high readings to physicians. The purpose is to find undiagnosed cases of hypertension, also known as high blood pressure, a major factor in heart disease.

Medical experts have indicated that 10 million Americans are unaware they suffer from high blood pressure.

Scouts attend camp

Boy Scout troop 91, sponsored by the Lions Club, spent a week at Camp Pioneer recently to learn scouting skills, earn merit badges and make rank advancements. Scoutmaster Olen Overturf accompanies the boys. Those attending were: Lynn Elder, David Smith, Stacy Walton, Chris Carey, Sandy Huckabee, Bob Prisock, David Berry, Britt Monts, Bill Tolleson, Teddy Price, Clifford Elder, Bill Gross, Ricky Morris, Steve Cox, Greg Gough, Steve Gough, Bryan Cox, Jay Rowe, Ricky Hogue, and Ricky Price. Accompanying the scouts on the bus Sunday were Camp Pioneer staff members Allen Foster of Hope and Paul Smith of New Boston, Texas. Tom Berry, district scout executive, assisted Overturf during the camp session.

What is the real B. F. Skinner like?

By RICHARD CARELLI
Associated Press Writer
MORGANTOWN, W.Va. (AP) — Others may see psychologist B. F. Skinner as a cold-blooded, would-be creator of human robots, but to his daughter, he's just the opposite.

"Most people are very surprised when they meet him," said his daughter, Dr. Julie Vargas, herself a psychology professor at West Virginia University. "They are expecting a cold, severe Hitler type, I guess, and discover a mild-mannered, friendly man."

Skinner, often called the father of behavioral psychology, once put Dr. Vargas' infant sister, Deborah—now in her late 20s—in a glassed-in crib which could be heat-and-humidity controlled so that she could remain germ free and wear no clothes, only diapers. Though Skinner took care to stress that Deborah was frequently taken out for cuddling and play, she became famous as "the baby in the box."

In his latest book he has raised the possibility of man surrendering individual freedoms to permit the design of a vast institutional system of behavioral controls which would reinforce altruistic behavior and eliminate such selfish behavior as pollution, war and overpopulation.

Dr. Vargas, a petite brunette has fond memories of her childhood relation to her father, now a faculty member at Harvard. "We never discussed his principles at home while I was growing up," she said.

She remembers being given "a lot of freedom" as a child. Dr. Vargas, 34, who is married to Dr. Ernest Vargas, also a psychology professor, has used the controversial "air crib" on her own two daughters, Lisa, 6, and Justine, 2.

"Actually the air crib is just a crib and those persons who don't know my father's work think it's great...Many link it with my father's experiments with the Skinner box (he prefers to call it an operant conditioning apparatus box)."

Dr. Vargas said her father never tried to influence her to enter his field.

"I never touched a rat until six years ago," she explained. It was while studying psychology that Dr. Vargas discovered she agreed with most principles pioneered by her father. But on some issues, father and daughter differ.

"I agree with him that goodness is a man-invented standard," she said, "but he believes the goodness of a culture is survival, working together toward survival and I disagree with him there."

They are in greatest accord, however, over the issue of human salvation through environmental control.

"A good example is rearranging certain reinforcement patterns," Dr. Vargas said, "like offering social and monetary reinforcement for not having children and giving additional welfare benefits to those persons willing to be re-educated and trained."

Mao. Archie. They each have a book

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What do Chairman Mao and Archie Bunker have in common? Each has his own little book of sayings.

Mao's book is Red red. Archie's is a patriotic red, white and blue.

Mao's thoughts are revolutionary. Archie's are no less inflammatory but much funnier. "The Wit and Wisdom of Archie Bunker," newly published in a paperback by Popular Library, is a compilation of Archie's outrageous remarks from CBS' "All in the Family."

The man who gave currency to "stiffle," "dingbat" and "meathead" speaks out on sex, race, politics, Women's Lib and many other subjects.

Much of the book records exchanges between Archie and other members of the cast, but here are a few short examples: —"Wages and prices. It's what you call your spiral staircase."

—"If you're gonna have your change of life, have it right now! You got exactly 30 seconds ... change!"

—"Well, I'll tell you one thing about Richard Nixon. He keeps Pat home. Which was where Roosevelt should have kept Eleanor. Instead he let her run around loose till one day she discovered the colored. We never knew they was there. She told them they was getting' the short end of the stick and we been havin' trouble ever since."

—"When I wanna learn about pollution, it won't be from no millionaire actor who's got nothin' to do but sit on his duff and dream up causes. If he wants to unpollute something, let him unpollute the movies. All them nudies."

—"It's moments like this where the only thing that holds a marriage together is the husband bein' big enough to step back and see where his wife is wrong."

In some cases Archie's humor comes through more clearly than on the show because you can see in print his misuse of words. For instance: "You're taking it out of context." "It's just a pigment of your imagination." "This political percussion is over as of here and now." "Smells like a house of ill repute, if you ask me."

Committee to handle 'secrets'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate takes up a resolution today to establish a bipartisan committee to make recommendations for the handling of secret documents.

The resolution results from a report by Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, to make public a secret Vietnam war study drafted in 1969 for President Nixon's guidance.

Gravel forced two closed-door sessions of the Senate on May 2 and 4 to discuss the issue.

That prompted Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and others, to introduce a resolution for a special Senate committee of five Democrats and five Republicans to study all questions relating to the classification of government documents submitted to the Senate or obtained by individual senators.

The committee would report back within 60 days with proposed guidelines for handling such documents.

are fewer individual investors now than at any earlier period. The number of such investors is now estimated at 32.5 million, up from 31.9 million last year.

One misimpression about the market is that mutual funds are the most powerful institutional traders. Not so at all. They are the most obvious, because they sell shares to the public, but they are from the biggest.

That distinction belongs to the private noninsured pension funds, which now have more than $125 billion in assets, $85 billion of which is in common stocks.

By comparison, the mutual funds have total assets of about $55 billion, with all but $3 billion of it in common stocks.

Nevertheless, it is these two institutional trading categories that have caused the individual investor to become less and less powerful in the market. Each year these two fund categories are more influential in setting prices.

Not only are private pension funds growing in size, but the tendency now is to seek maximum returns in the stock market rather than from more conservative investments in bonds.

And not only are mutual funds growing in size and number, but they are markedly more active traders than they were 10 years ago. Some funds now turn over their portfolios 100 per cent within one year.

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Is the individual investor a dying breed, about to be buried in the avalanche of trading emanating from the big institutional traders who now account for most of the volume on the New York Stock Exchange?

That notion is broadcast from time to time, and not without some justification. Many individual investors of long standing have canceled out their accounts in recent years. Many others are steady sellers.

Meanwhile, the growth of institutions such as mutual and pension funds has been phenomenal. And their aggressiveness as traders has grown too.

During the 1965-1971 period, institutional volume grew by what Dr. William Fruend, NYSE chief economist, calls an "astounding 25 per cent a year" and now accounts for 68 per cent of all trading, in dollar terms.

But, he points out, all that growth isn't at the expense of the individual investor. The latter's transactions grew 8 per cent a year in the same period, and new accounts for 32 per cent of trading.

In other words, it is true that the institutions are more dominant in the market than they were, and it is true that the individual investor carries less trading weight than before.

But it isn't true that there
